JONES PROPOSAL HAS THE CALL

Would Study and Recommend Disposition of Muscle Shoals.

UNDERWOOD MEASURED COMED

Administration Leaders Lining Up Against the Alabama Senator's Bill, Following a Conference With President Coolidge—Survey of Agricultural Conditions Made by the War Finance Corporation.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The Underwood bill providing for the leasing of the government's Muscle Shoals project will not have the support of President Coolidge, it is said by administration leaders, who are getting behind the Jones bill for creating a federal commission to study the project and to recommend its disposition in a report to congress before Dec. 1, 1925.

This movement is led by Senator Reed Smoot (Rep., Utah), who announced his opposition to the Underwood bill following a conference with President Coolidge. His attitude was endorsed later by such spokesmen for the administration as Senators Watson (Rep., Ind.), Reed (Rep., Pa.) and Butler (Rep., Mass.).

President Coolidge's attitude was described by an administration spokesman as follows: "The president is not wedded to the Underwood bill, and never has been." He simply wishes to have the senate provide alternatives of both private and public operation that the government can make the most advantageous disposition of Muscle Shoals. As this dual provision was in the Underwood bill he did not oppose it. He would prefer, however, that a commission be created with cabinet officers as members, to recommend final disposition of the project."

The war finance corporation submitted to congress the annual summary of its operations. The report says:

"Most of the important farming districts are in better shape than they have been for several years. Bank deposits have increased, bank reserves are being restored, business has greatly improved and the farmers generally are making excellent progress in cleaning up the burden of indebtedness under which they have been laboring and in strengthening their economic position."

The price of range cattle, the report said, has not followed the trend of other agricultural commodities and conditions in the breeding end of the industry were described as still unsatisfactory.

Approval of 561 applications for agricultural and livestock loans totaling $12,227,000 was made by the corporation during the year ending Nov. 30. The amount, the report said, is a "substantial reduction from the preceding year and evidence of the general improvement in the agricultural situation as well as in the condition of country banks."

Of the amount approved $4,670,000 represented advances authorized to 201 banking and finance institutions and $7,570,000 to 24 live stock loan companies. Loans outstanding on the corporation's books as of Nov. 30 totaled $62,623,000, of which $16,975,000 was for war loans and $45,648,000 for agricultural and live stock loans. All export loans, made prior to the suspension of business in May, 1920, as well as those made after resumption of operations in January, 1921, the report added, have been liquidated.

TO FIGHT POULTRY ILLS

Quarantines to Be Declared to Prevent Spread of Diseases.

Washington, Dec. 22.—Congress appropriated $100,000 to finance a fight against the outbreak of poultry diseases. The senate passed a resolution authorizing the expenditure and the house quickly gave its approval. With the money in hand the department of agriculture will declare quarantines to prevent the spread of chicken diseases. Surveys to determine the infected areas will begin at once. Pending the quarantines, federal inspectors in poultry centers, such as New York, Boston, Providence, Chicago and Omaha, will begin a campaign of inspection and sanitation. All places where poultry is assembled will be disinfected. The agricultural department recently issued a statement that there were no grounds for fear that human health would be endangered by the disease.

GET THE BOOTLEGGER

Russell Indorses New Policy of State Prohibition Department.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald's new law enforcement program outlined at a meeting of state dry inspectors has been indorsed by J. E. Russell, federal prohibition commissioner for Ohio. Russell agreed with Commissioner McDonald's announced policy that in the future enforcement officers would be expected to expend their first efforts in the apprehension of those persons who violate the liquor laws for gain. He declared that henceforth the federal office will cooperate and welcome co-operation with the state forces in an effort to rid the state of contraband booze by striking at the source of supply, the bootleggers. "The only way to rid the state of contraband booze is to get the manufacturer and large dealer," Commissioner Russell said. "You can not break up bootlegging by searching the hip pockets of those who drink. As I have pointed out many times before, there are too many 'possession' and not enough 'manufacture and sale' cases brought into our courts."

RAIL TRAFFIC RECORD BROKEN IN OCTOBER

New High Water Mark Forecast for the Coming Year.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The American Railway association announced that railroad freight traffic in October was the largest for any single month ever reported. It said the expeditions manner in which freight was handled saved the shippers of the country millions of dollars through prompt delivery of commodities to market. The statement declared the new record was made possible by prompt loading and unloading of freight cars, by speeding up car movements and by increasing the load carried per train. The daily average movement per freight car in October was 30.7 miles, the greatest for any month in history save October last year, when the record was equaled.

The committee on public relations of the eastern railroads, in its annual review of railroad operations, forecasts a new high water mark of rail traffic in 1925. Adoption of the Dawes plan, providing a market for greater exports of raw material and restoration of the purchasing power of the farmer through the increase in prices of farm products, are the chief factors which the railroad executives believe will swell car loading above the record of 50,000,000 cars achieved in 1923. In the year just closing it is estimated that car loadings will fall about 1,000,000 short of last year's peak.

Donahy Congratulates Green.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—Governor Donahy sent this message to William Green, new president of the American Federation of Labor: "Ohio is proud and gratified to learn of your well-earned advancement. The American Federation of Labor will continue under safe but progressive leadership, and its members are to be congratulated."

TO SEEK RELIEF LEGISLATION

State Utilities Commission Overwhelmed With Work.

WOULD HAVE MORE MEMBERS

More Than 800 Applications and Affidavits on File and Unheard and Conditions Growing Worse Each Day—Legislature Must Make Some Provision For Handling Increasing Volume of Business.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—According to Secretary James B. Dugan, the state public utilities commission is hopelessly swamped with applications for various certificates and hearings.

Mr. Dugan said that more than 800 applications and affidavits are on file and unheard. From one to five days often is consumed with one hearing, and applications are coming in at the rate of 10 each day. At this rate, the commission each day falls from 10 days to three weeks behind its schedule. "Conditions are growing worse each day," said Mr. Dugan. "Ohio, with three commissioners, is handling one of the biggest utility problems of any state in the Union, and most other states have from five to seven commissioners."

The commission feels that the state legislature must make some provision for handling the increasing volume of business. Two courses are open. The one favored by the body is the addition of two new members, who would devote full time to bus cases, leaving security and rate cases to the other three. In this manner two hearings could be conducted at the same time. The alternative is the appointment of commission examiners to conduct hearings and present transcripts of testimony to the commission for decision. The latter way, however, the commission believes, would not relieve the congestion to any great extent, for the commission would still have to devote time to studying the transcripts.

Faced with a mass of unfinished routine business and hindered by lack of funds, the commission early in the new year is confronted with the biggest task it has had to perform since coming into existence, in 1913. Forty-two telephone rate cases, involving principal cities of the state, are to be decided. The legislature would have to make a separate appropriation of approximately $250,000 for the survey, it was pointed out.

The state is losing thousands of dollars annually because the commission is unable to handle the huge volume of business, according to Dugan. Hundreds of applications to operate motor buses are on file.

The companies can not begin operation until a certificate has been granted and pay no tax until then. The average fee from each motor bus operator is $100. Many of these applications have been on file a full year, the state losing the revenue which would have been gained had the certificates been used promptly.

TRACY'S STATEMENT

No Large Surplus From State Automobile Registration Fees.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—State Auditor Tracy issued a statement to correct an erroneous impression that there is a large surplus from state automobile registration fees in the state treasury for road maintenance. He said that on Dec. 15 the cash balance in this fund was only $452,863.31. This is all that is left to care for road appropriations already made by the legislature, amounting to $872,678.55. Thus, instead of a surplus, he said it would actually take considerable funds from the 1925 tag sale to meet the existing appropriations. "The last general assembly appropriated $4,771,290 for road repair for the year beginning July 1, 1924," said Mr. Tracy. On Dec. 15, 1924, there still remained $952,878.55 of this appropriation which had not been expended. On the same date the entire cash balance in the highway maintenance fund was only $452,863.31.

Court to Run on Cash Basis.

Tiffin, O., Dec. 22.—Mayor John Dreitzler announced that the Tiffin police court will go on a cash basis Jan. 16. "All fines are cash and carry yourself straight," will be the word offenders will hear, the mayor said. "The cash and carry" system will replace the "installment" plan of paying fines, long in use here. Offenders frequently have been permitted to pay fines in weekly installments. Nearly a dozen are in arrears and police have been ordered to round them all up before Jan. 10.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Allege Jury Unfair.

Portsmouth, O., Dec. 22.—Charging that the jury which returned a verdict of first degree murder, without recommendation of mercy, against Jason Adkins of Portsmouth, was not a "fair and impartial jury," defense counsel filed motions for a new trial. Adkins and Leazy Traylor, alleged accomplices in the murder of Edward Fink, New Boston filling station operator, will not receive their sentences until after Christmas. Both face death sentences.

Five-Day Week Seen.

Cleveland, Dec. 22.—The Cleveland Building Trades Employers' association probably will be the first employers group in the United States to act on the demand of the painters and plasterers' union for a five-day week. The plasterers have presented the demand, according to W. P. Carroll, secretary of the employers' association, and a similar one from the painters is expected.

Aged Man Drowned.

Cincinnati, Dec. 22.—The body of Henry Bruns, 82, who has been missing for more than a week, was found in West Fork creek, near his home. Relatives said that due to his advanced age he had mental lapses at times and it is believed that during one of the lapses he had wandered from his home and fallen into the creek.

Boy Killed by Fall.

Toledo, Dec. 22.—Richard Cochran, 17, senior at Scott high school, slipped from the roof of his home and fell 30 feet, dying of a fractured skull. The boy was on the roof repairing the wires of his radio set, which were damaged by the storm, and it is supposed he lost his balance and fell to the ground.

Three Persons Asphyxiated.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—Fuelless gas stoves killed three persons here. The victims: Joe Winteroll, 24; Mrs. Hazel Jones, 23, who were found dead in a north side rooming house, and Mrs. Ina Morris, 25, colored domestic, found dead at the home of her employer in Bexley.

Cop Shot; Burglar Escapes.

Cincinnati, Dec. 22.—While searching for a burglar in the home of Municipal Judge Joseph H. Woeste, Patrolman William Lohman was shot in the left leg by Patrolman Charles Rahe. Rahe thought Lohman was the burglar. The burglar escaped.

Postoffice Robbed.

Canton, O., Dec. 22.—The postoffice at Hibbets, Carroll county, was broken into and $40 in silver and all of the parcel post packages in the office stolen. Some merchandise in a general store operated in the same building was included in the loot.

Miner Killed.

New Lexington, O., Dec. 22.—Danzy Plant, 37, miner, was almost instantly killed at Corning, when caught under a fall of rock.

Returns to Pulpit.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—Rev. C. V. Sheatsley returned to his pulpit in Christ Lutheran church, Bexley yesterday morning after an absence of more than a month, following the tragic death of his wife, Nov. 17. He preached a Christmas sermon. After service, as the congregation filed out, Rev. Mr. Sheatsley stood by the door clasping each by the hand, with the customary word of greeting.

BENDER WOULD CLEAN HOUSE

Separate Crooks from Dry Law Enforcement, He Says.

HE WILL URGE LEGISLATION

Giving the State Prohibition Commissioner 100 or 150 Inspectors Instead of Only 20, as at Present, Indicated as a Solution—Cleveland Senator Sees Crimes Committed in the Name of Prohibition Enforcement.

Cleveland, Dec. 22.—State Senator George Bender, member of the state senate temperance committee, declared in a statement here that a lean-up of the dry force is necessary.

The senator said an effort will be made by the legislature to separate dry law enforcement from the province of "crooks, rowdies and jailbirds, whose only interest in prohibition is the fees and graft they may make out of it." Bribery, extortion, carrying concealed weapons, automobile stealing, larceny, assault and battery are being committed in the name of prohibition enforcement, he said. Bender added:

"I am thoroughly in sympathy with the dry laws and believe in rigid enforcement, but I am not one of those who condone the breaking of every other law for the sake of enforcing the Volstead act. To my mind, if we take the profit out of dry law enforcement, the viciousness and graft will disappear to a large extent. The crooks, who have no sympathy with prohibition and yet purport to enforce it, will get out of the business the minute their profits are cut off. The evil practices of these so-called dry agents are doing more than anything else, I believe, to bring about a widespread disrespect for all laws, and particularly prohibition laws. Perhaps the solution would be an amendment to the Miller law giving the state prohibition commissioner 100 or 150 inspectors instead of only 20, as at present. These inspectors could be assigned to districts and, together with federal agents, would provide enough outside competition to keep any police department on its toes."

Cleveland police in the past year arrested more than 100 dry agents, or persons acting as dry agents. Many have been convicted. Attributing most of the evils of prohibition enforcement to agents hired promiscuously by dry raiding justices of the peace, County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton launched an investigation last spring. As a result, two justices of the peace quit the raiding business and 19 special constables were convicted of crimes, including petit larceny, violating the liquor law, extortion, bribery and obtaining money under false pretenses. The convictions and resultant publicity apparently had no lasting effect, however.

SUGGESTS HEALTH TEST

Director Monger Says It Would Exemplify Christmas Spirit.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—Dr. John E. Monger, state health director, suggests giving a health examination to yourself or friend for Christmas. He said: "What better way to exemplify the Christmas spirit, to give something worth while, than by a health examination, either for one's self or for another? If the examination is for one's self it is a gift to the family, a step on the road to health that means surer provision for the demands in years to come. If defects are found, or incipient ailments, it makes possible their correction, the prevention of years, perhaps, of suffering and dependence in the future, the consequence, if an ailment is not discovered and corrected. If no defects, deficiencies or incipient ailments are discovered, it assures the satisfaction that comes from knowing one is in perfect physical condition. Or, the opportunity can be offered to another for a health examination, by which incipient diseases may be found in time, diagnosed and treated, thus providing a real opening to the road to health."

Accidentally Shot.

Batavia, O., Dec. 22.—William C. Bishop, Jr., was shot accidentally when a revolver fell from the pocket of Frank Buckner in a barber shop. The bullet entered Bishop's leg above the knee and ranged upward, lodging in the stomach.

John Oswald, 50, and John Johnson, 30, were instantly killed and four others injured, two of them seriously, by a fall of rock in the Wolverine mine, at Houghton, Mich.

ANGLER'S LICENSE SOUGHT

League of Ohio Sportsmen Will Seek Legislation.

Columbus, Dec. 22.—The League of Ohio Sportsmen will back an anglers' license bill, to be introduced next month in the Ohio legislature. Persons under 17 years of age are exempt under the proposed law, which is the same as that introduced two years ago by the Ohio State game and the sportsmen's organization. The original bill did not provide that farmers should purchase a license to fish on their own lands, but exempted them the same as the hunters' license law does. "This amendment never was favored by the sportsmen," the league announcement said. "The anglers' license bill is intended as a replacement fee and not as a tax for the privilege of going fishing, and the revenue derived can be used for building fish hatcheries and restocking Ohio streams with millions of game fish without cost to the taxpayers."

The league also will urge legislation to remedy the stream pollution menace without hampering industry and "trusts this can be done with the co-operation of manufacturers responsible for stream pollution from the standpoint of public health, as well as for the purpose of restoring fish life in Ohio waters."

Probing Rail Accident.

Milwaukee, Dec. 22.—Railroad officials today began an investigation of the accident at Chippewa Falls, Wis., when the last coach of an eastbound Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie passenger train plunged from the trestle over the Chippewa river into the icy water 60 feet below. A broken switch bolt apparently was the cause of the accident. Eight persons were killed and as many more injured. The dead are: Harry Jones, Sioux City, Ia.; Charles M. Pardoe, Minneapolis; Barbara Spencer, 6-months-old daughter of M. L. Spencer, Seattle; Kenneth J. Henderson, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Mrs. Florence Higgs, Minneapolis; Richard W. Sharp, Toronto; John T. Dunne, New York city, and an unidentified woman.

Shopmen Get Increase.

New York, Dec. 22.—A committee representing the several Erie railroad shop unions and General Manager W. A. Baldwin agreed on a new wage scale, effective Jan. 1, by which wages are raised 3 cents an hour. The present minimum rate is 70 cents an hour and the average 74. The new rate affects all the machinists, blacksmiths, boiler makers, sheet metal workers, electricians and car men employed in the various shops of the company.

FANEUIL HALL HAS BEEN "DOLLED UP"

"Cradle of American Liberty" Renovated.

Boston.—With the work of restoration virtually completed, Faneuil hall, the "Cradle of American Liberty," now stands as at first in simple dignity and beauty, the soft mellow red of the bricks admirably set off by the cream trimming of its woodwork, while the fresh gilding of the dome on the old belfry, with its copper sheathing and grasshopper weathervane, gleams brilliantly where before the dome was darkened with the green-black of corroded, smoke-stained copper.
The most striking result, to the casual observer, says the Christian Science Monitor, is the restoration of the exterior. Here the many coats of unsightly yellow paint obscuring the brick walls have been removed by the sand-blast method, crumbling bricks have been replaced by others specially made to match the original, and the whole of the brickwork has been repainted and waterproofed. The window frames and casings have been restored, new casings and frames being called for in many cases, and painted white.

Famous Features Preserved.
For the rest of the exterior, crumbling stonework has been replaced, the old dilapidated canopy of wood and canvas has been torn away to make room for the new canopy of steel and concrete construction.

The dome, with its grasshopper weather vane of sheet copper, is the work of Shem Drowne, made famous by Nathaniel Hawthorne's story, "Drowne's Wooden Image," one of the "Twice-Told Tales."

A great number of small repairs and changes have been made, new footings have been put in, waterproofing and fireproofing carried throughout the building and the interior has been redecorated. Paintings have been renovated and many other bits of repair work have been done, at an expense to the city of approximately $286,000, the total of the contracts awarded to A. Plotti, chief contractor, being $285,954. The total cost of the renovation will be about $315,000.

Within the hall, the market has been floored with concrete, new refrigerating equipment has been installed, overhead sprinklers have been put in, the market and basement floor slabs have been waterproofed and general renovation has been completed. There was some sentiment at the time the restoration was begun in favor of removing the market from the lower floor of the hall and turning the entire building into a historical museum, but this was abandoned when examination of the terms of gift showed that Peter Faneuil, builder and donor of the hall, had stipulated in 1742 that the hall should always be used as a market and a place of public meeting. So, as the donor willed, the hall will remain.

Fireproofing Installed.
In carrying out the program of fireproofing throughout the building, the wooden pillars and columns have been replaced by steel or concrete, the floors have been relaid of concrete, automatic sprinklers have been installed in the small rooms of the upper floors, and a "water curtain" has been extended upward inside the outer walls.

Scarcely any work was needed upon the outer walls, beyond the replacement of a few bricks and the filling of a few minor cracks. These walls, three feet in thickness, have stood firm since the construction of the building in 1762. The original Faneuil hall, built in 1742 by Peter Faneuil and given to the city, was burned in 1761. It was rebuilt in 1762 and dedicated "to the cause of liberty." March 14, 1763, James Otis being the principal speaker. The famous "Cradle of Liberty," in revolutionary days, was only half as wide as the present building, and a story lower.

It was remodeled and enlarged in 1806, under the direction of Charles Bulfinch.

Breed Chickens Immune From Auto Juggernaut

Bloomburg, Pa.—"Automobile mortality" as one of the chief sources of loss to poultrymen is being fought by farmers of this region, and two protective steps are being taken. One is the removal of the chicken pens to points far distant from the road, and the other the breeding of birds that have shown, under observation, a readiness to stay on their own side of the road when an automobile comes along.

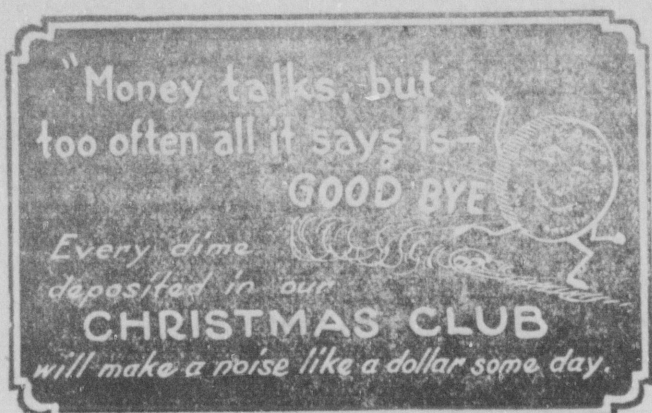

Tests made with nearly 100 flocks of a certain breed revealed only a half dozen chickens which went across the road. With other breeds, there were less than a half dozen of entire flocks along the road which did not try to cross. Some of the farmers are not slow to realize the difference and are turning to those breeds which "stay put" and avoid the losses.

On farms along main highways the losses to flocks from motor cars has been as high as 35 per cent. In some cases a single passing automobile has killed four chickens.

Science Slow in Russia
Moscow.—According to Professor Fersman of the Russian Academy of Sciences, who recently passed some time in Germany, scientific research work in that country has greatly declined, and in some ways is far below similar work in Russia. In the Scandinavian countries, on the other hand, he professor says, the progress of science has been very remarkable, especially abstract science.

Relative Value of Milks.
The fat globules of goats' milk are so small that cream rises very slowly. This quality, however, gives to the milk a uniform richness not possessed by cows' milk. There are now several condensed milk factories using goats' milk, which is condensed and sold for infant feeding. Many thousands of infants are compelled to live during their first few months on condensed cows' milk, and it is not the best food for their stomachs.

Salt Used as Money.
The value of salt is recognized in all countries, and in those parts of the world where it is scarce it is used as money. In some parts of Abyssinia bars of salt and rifle cartridges are the only small change in circulation. The bars are ten inches long and two inches in length and breadth. Five or eight "salts" make one dollar, depending on the distance of the source of supply. Three cartridges have the value of one salt.

Where Blame Lies.
Life starts most of us out with an excellent endowment of strength. It is our own abuse of this strength that brings about our ailments. Life starts most of us out with courage and will. It is our own neglect of these qualities that sets courage and will dwindling. Life starts most of us with very good looks or with looks that are good enough. It is our own neglect of personal care that makes us plain looking.

orate self this winter, and the opera season will witness as brilliant an array of gowns and coats as ever presented. There is less fundamental variation in the evening cloak—its distinctiveness is achieved principally through rich fabrics and luxurious trimmings—and this greater conformity begins with the silhouette, which is most frequently straight. The flared types are not without representation, but they have not been accepted as eagerly in this class of dress as in others. Cape effects are among the most prominent models. The three-quarter length models are featured by Vionnet, who shows a regal evening cape in black and gold brocade fitting at the shoulders and cut in a circular movement. The same model is developed in broadtail.

Red Is Effective.
An effective Chanel wrap is of red Louis XIV lame with a tiny all-over pattern done in gold threads. This model has a straight, slightly fitted back, a full apron front and is bordered with a six-inch strip of lapin pelle. The same house offers a striking cloak du soir of Bordeaux red velvet lined with matching marabou. The feature of this model is a succession of bands two inches wide, which are set about three inches apart. These continue to the end of the neckline.

From these typical details it is apparent that the evening cloak depends upon fabrics, trimming and color for its individuality. Sleeves are invariably wide, with still more ample cuffs, and collars and cuffs are generally of fur. Tinsel cloths, velvet, lame and metallic brocades are the principal fabrics, bright shades of red, green and brown the leading shades, and luxurious fur pelts the most prominent trimmings. The keynote of the evening wrap rests not in its details, but in its materials and colorings.

The ensemble coat is, of course, not a separate item of dress, and it must conform with the costume of which it is a part. That conformity is usually a question of material, and it is frequently manifested in the lining of the coat, which is of the identical fabric as the dress. However, there is no set dicta on this point, and the ensemble effect may be carried out by numerous other means, such as trimmings and color. This type of costume is appropriate for all occasions—informal, semi-formal and formal—and the accompanying coats generally follow the lines of the regular models for these functions except that flared effects are seldom adopted.

Jean Patou's famous quand le soleil tombe is a perfect example of the Parisian ensemble—a charming costume quite dressy enough for an informal evening dance or dinner and yet equally appropriate for a tea dansant or afternoon reception. The coat is developed in a satiny quality of black broadtail and is bordered with a deep band of lynx. Collar and cuffs are also of lynx.

Tablet Trim Velvet Ensemble.
Another typical afternoon ensemble consists of a coat and dress of navy blue velvet. The long, slim coat is trimmed with border bands of dyed hare and numerous silk tassels. The dress is exquisitely embroidered in turquoise beads and silk, this giving the name of le turquoise to the model.

The sports coat follows the same general lines and details as its afternoon prototype, except that the materials are different. Rough and fleecy woolsens in Scotch and Tartan plaids, gayly colored, take the place of the more conservative fabrics and hues employed for ordinary daytime wear.

Apart from the mechanical details of the sports coat there is another noteworthy consideration which places this item of the feminine wardrobe in a class of its own. It is the symbol of youth, and its boyish effect must be paramount, even when worn by the more mature woman. This idea runs directly counter to the present temper of the mode, which has generally discarded the concept of youth eternal and has designed separate models for debutante and matron.

Yet the exception is logical enough. When Mr. Old Grad comes back to the bowl to cheer his alma mater he casts the years behind him and for the moment revives his undergraduate days. And the lady at his left is transformed for the occasion into the same youthful girl who graciously accompanied him in the days of Nineteen Nine. Wherefore she must dress the part.

Sets Off Dark Shades
With the rich, dark shades of red, blue and purple, a necklace that will offset the dark tones and yet not clash with them is desirable. A string of gleaming white rock crystal meets this need.

THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT.

There is a better thing than the observance of Christmas day—and that is keeping Christmas.

The spirit of Christmas is so fine and so big, so generous, that we surely know what it should be.

The greatest joy in life is in contributing to the happiness of some other individual—to the boy or girl, or the needy and destitute.

As a general proposition this is a tough world and the burden of responsibilities often choke the fountain of merriment.

The charm of Christmas is not only in the expression we use, but what is in the heart behind it, and to express this joy of living is the aim of all Christmas literature and customs.

In order to produce this effect it is not necessary that one should sentimentalize over the world in general. The spring may be in the desert, but its waters are none the less refreshing. In fact, the Christmas spirit may manifest itself against a tragic background.

A miser is the most pitiful object in the whole world, the most loveless and wretched of God's creatures. He has stifled the Creator's purpose in giving him life and has ceased to grow. While there are fewer misers, it is also true that slowly and surely there is a gradual awakening to the fact that Christmas means more than the giving of presents; that it means a fitness between the gift and the giver's mode of living; that we give with common sense and out of the fullness of our hearts.

The ideal Christmas should embody the cheer and good will of the English Yuletide with the charm of the German celebration and yet be thoroughly American in its application.

Let us give out of the fullness of our hearts appropriate and useful gifts to our immediate families, to our dearest and best friends. Christmas without toys would be very sad to the little folks and this part of the program should never be changed. We will remember our dozens or hundreds of relatives, friends and acquaintances with an appropriate message of goodfellowship.

We will try to trim our lamp so that it will give less smoke and more light; to make a grave for ugly thoughts and a garden with an open grate for kindly feelings.

Remember that the blessed life which began in Bethlehem nineteen hundred years ago is the image of brightness and eternal love. Then you can keep Christmas.

Safe to Be Poor.

Again it is proved that age is no guaranty against breach of promise suits. Poverty seems to be the only bar that is absolutely certain.—Kansas City Star.

AMUSEMENTS

The title of the new Paramount picture, "Sinners in Heaven," which is coming to the Met theater for a 2 days run beginning next Monday has a distinctly paradoxical sound. It is safe to assume that the picture satisfactorily explains and justifies the title.

To those, however, who have read the story by Clive Arden from which the picture was adapted by James Creelman and produced by Alan Crossland, the title has an especial significance and it is certain that they will approve its retention in the screen play.

"Sinners in Heaven" tells the story of a man and a girl who are thru fate wrecked on a tropical island off the coast of Africa. Try to imagine what would happen if you found yourself stranded in some remote corner of the earth, apparently a million miles from any sign of civilization, and your only companion was a person whom you cordially disliked! This is the situation that confronts Barbara Stockley, the heroine; and you can readily understand the dynamic possibilities for rich drama when we tell you that the girl eventually falls in love with the man and marries him, there, in the heart of the African desert! How the marriage is performed and what happens after that, we will let you discover for yourself.

With a combination of such office favorites as Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix who portray the two leading roles surrounded by such likeable and well known players as Holmes Herbert, Montague Love, Florence Billings, Effie Shannon, Betty Hilburn and Marcia Harris, the only fair thing to do is designate it as an all star cast.

Make a note of the play date if you want to be amongst those present when "Sinners in Heaven" comes to town!

YARD STICK

Sugar is Reliable as Showing Prosperity of Leading Nations.

Sugar, as much as any one product today tells how prosperous the leading nations of the world are.

"With sugar as the yardstick," explains R. F. Taber, an Ohio State university economist who makes the statement above, "the United States leads the world in prosperity and Russia is near the bottom of the list. 'We can use sugar as a reliable yardstick,' the economist continues, 'because past a certain point it becomes a luxury. While a reasonable consumption of sweets is necessary, it is known that past this the craving of the sweet tooth calls for expenditures which go under the head of luxuries.'

"Assuming, therefore, that the craving for sugar is proportional to the craving for other luxuries and human indulgences, we get a pretty good idea of a nation's prosperity from its per capita consumption of sugar.

"The average person in the United States, according to statistics published recently, eats 101 pounds of sugar every year. England stands next with a per capita consumption of 93. Germany, for example, records 53 pounds a person a year, Italy 14, and Russia 9."

TREES AND SHRUBS

TO BEAUTIFY HOME

A few choice trees and shrubs judiciously grouped and placed so as not to obstruct desirable views or encroach too much upon the well-kept lawn will do much to beautify the homestead.

In order to aid owners in choosing trees and shrubs best suited for Ohio soils and climate the Ohio Agricultural experiment station is growing all the most promising native and foreign species to determine their adaptation and manner of growth. In addition to the large plantings on the state experiment farm at Wooster other plantings may be seen on the state forests and county and district experiment farms.

Norway spruce; white, red and Austrian pines; Douglas and concolor fir; and Colorado blue and Englemann spruce are among the evergreen trees recommended by Edmund Secrest, state forester, for windbreak and group planting.

Red and pin oak, sugar and Norway maple, oriental plane and American elm are desirable for shade and street planting.

Bush honeysuckle, the spiraea, the viburnums, syringias, and catone asters are, he says, among the best shrubs for screen and ornamental planting.

FOR GOOD ROADS

Farmers Have Been Compelled to Pay More Than Their Share.

Relief for the farmer in the matter of assessments for highway improvement will be recommended to the general assembly by the Ohio Good Roads federation.

The federation favors an amendment to the law relative to assessment of 10 per cent on the property owner to not more than $3000 per mile.

There is a provision in the present law that permits the making of an agreement between county commissioners and township trustees for the payment of any given proportion of the cost of the road assigned to these units of government. This provision has been seriously abused the federation says, often resulting in the placing of from 30 to 50 per cent of the cost of the road upon the township and benefited properties.

The abuse of this provision has been responsible, it is said, for much ill-feeling on the part of farmers and has been the cause of antagonism toward state road improvements. The federation feels that in justice to the farmer this change in the law should be made.

OLDEST CITIZEN OF PICKAWAY COUNTY DEAD.

Julius Weill Passed Away at His Home in His Ninety-Eighth Year--Was One of Circleville's Best Known and Most Highly Respected Residents--Burial in the Cemetery in Cincinnati Wednesday.

Circleville's oldest citizen, Julius Weill, passed away this morning at his home on East High street, in his ninety-eighth year, after an illness of two weeks and this finally developed into pneumonia and heart trouble which proved fatal.

The deceased was born at Alsace, France, May 9, 1828 and was the son of Jacques and Esther Mayer Weill. He came to this country in 1849, and settled at Lasalle, Ottawa county, Illinois, where he conducted a frontier store. On one of his trips to Cincinnati to buy merchandise, he met a young lady at a social affair, who afterwards became his wife. This was Miss Sarah Levy, whom he married January 25, 1857. After a residence of ten years in Illinois the couple moved to Lancaster and later to this city where he since resided. He conducted successfully a general store at the corner of Court and High streets for a period of forty years. His wife died March 13, 1905 and a daughter, Miss Mollie Weill, died on December 22, 1903.

The deceased was the oldest member of Philos lodge, Knights of Pythias of this city. He became a member of this fraternal organization March 16, 1882. Religiously Mr. Weill was a member of Temple of Israel, Rockdale avenue, Cincinnati, since January, 1905. He was orthodox in his religious belief and followed strictly the tenets of the Jewish religion.

For years or since he retired from business he has devoted his time to the buying and selling of real estate and has owned in his time a number of parcels of real estate, both in this city and Columbus, but he was known as an ideal landlord, in that he never raised rents after making improvements. He had tenants occupying his properties for over eighteen years and even during the World war when other property owners raised and demanded larger rents and even doubled them, Mr. Weill refused to follow and told his tenants to remain. He always showed a fellowfeeling for the poor and contributed generously to the Jewish Orphan asylum at Cleveland and to the Consumptive sanitarium at Denver, Colorado.

Five daughters and two sons survive. They are Mrs. Germain Joseph, Miss Bertha Weill and Harry E. Weill of this city; Mrs. Sim Weil and Mrs. Jonas Weil, of Lexington, Kentucky; Mrs. Hannah Jacobs, of Columbus and J. M. Weill of Havana, Cuba. He is also survived by ten grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the chapel, Walnut Hills, at one o'clock. Rev. Dr. David Philipson, of Temple Israel, will officiate. The pallbearers will be Sim and Jonas Weil, Harry Steinhouser, Henry Joseph, Samuel Joseph Harry E. Weill and Samuel and Bernard Levy, of Cincinnati.

The Knights of Pythias will have a ritualistic service at the home Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

WATCH NIGHT

Good Program Will be Rendered at Pontius U. B. Church.

The Christmas program by the Morris U. B. Sunday school will be rendered Thursday evening in the church at 7 o'clock (sun time).

Watch night service at the Pontius U. B. church with Rev. C. V. Coppock and his flock of the Brethren church, cooperating. A great program is being arranged and you will do well to put that down as the place to go and the time, December 31.

With the watch night service will follow a series of meetings at the same church to which all are invited. Two weeks is our rule so do not play "Mr. and Mrs. Put-it-off" and miss the opportunity.

Mankind Suspicious.

The flesh of the shark is said to resemble that of the sturgeon—the fish that "goes to the Caesar's dish," but its cannibalistic reputation, firmly fixed in the popular mind, is against it. Man's dread of the gastronomically untried is only equalled by his curiosity, which after all gets the better of his fears. Truly he was a brave man who first swallowed a raw oyster.

Drum's Place in Music.

The drum is a relic of ancient ages. Music in its earliest form is fundamentally drum—later to develop into harmony. The drum, lacking pitch, lacking true musical expression, nevertheless essentially registers rhythm. It represents music in its infancy as devised by primitive peoples.

DOUBLE WEDDING

Daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ora G. Oppihle Married at Williamsport.

A double wedding took place this afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage at Williamsport when Miss Grace Oppihle became the bride of Mr. Pearl P. Betz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Betz, of Kingston, and Miss Lois Oppihle was married to Mr. J. Russell Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Todd, of Westfall, Wayne township.

The brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ora G. Oppihle of South Scioto street, this city, and both were seniors of the high school. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. Cross. Both Mr. and Mrs. Betz and Mr. and Mrs. Todd left immediately after the ceremony for a short wedding trip to the northern part of the state.

Get Out and Get Busy.

The man who indulges in self-pity is a defeated man before the fight begins. There is no exercise of the human mind that is so debilitating as that of heroic resolution, as that of nourishing the feeling that one has an impossible job, and is of all men most miserable. Have you a hard duty to perform? Perform it with resolution, and get it done, and encourage your soul with the glow of triumph. Who promised you an easy life? And who but a coward and a weakling cares for an easy life? Put on a smoke consumer and get out and get busy in the sunlight.—Exchange.

LOCAL HISTORY

Study Forms Basis of Interesting, Valuable Work in English.

A "local history contest" in the schools of Douglas county, Oregon, sponsored by the extension division of the University of Oregon, has offered a new significance to a local history and has increased a spirit and interest in the community and state, according to School Life, a publication of the Interior Department, Bureau of Education. It also formed the basis of interesting and valuable work in English.

In writing their stories for the contest the children were limited to events and incidents within the territorial boundaries of their respective school districts, although they were permitted to go into other districts and interview former residents.

Anything of historical interest was permitted in the contest, such as the first settler in the district, the first home, the history of the school, the church, the first store, the first roads and how, perhaps, they grew out of the old pack trails and developed into the splendid highways of the present day, the history of the transportation system and special industries in the district and the history of their development, Indian legends and stories of battles between Indians and whites, and of points of historic interest in the community.

MOTHS! MOTHS!

What are they? Most people know but do you know? A solution for the protection of your clothes during the time they are not in use? You no doubt have noticed that moths will not work just in one spot but will eat a little here and there that is proof that there is something there they like. A sure prevention is to have your clothing thoroly cleaned that destroys all moths; even the eggs or other germs that may be in the garment then pack them or hang them in a moth proof bag which we furnish free with each suit, coat or overcoat we clean.

Civilizations Compared

"Nations and individuals are judged by two factors—their virtues and their vices," writes Achmed Abdullah, distinguished novelist and playwright from the Orient, comparing the East and West, in Hearst's International. He says:

"I asked myself: Did the Europeans live up more to the altruistic teachings of Jesus than we to those of Mohammed, Confucius, Buddha and Moses? Were the teachings of Jesus more apt to lead His followers in the golden path than those of the other great Prophets? Did the Europeans have finer loyalty than the Arabs, finer filial piety than the Chinese, finer family cohesion than the Jews, finer sex morality than the Persians, finer charity than the Parsees?"

"My answer was—still is—'No!' and I challenge anybody above the level of asinine bigotry to show me where I am wrong."

"Looking at the other side of the medal: were the unwashed of Calcutta dirtier than those of Liverpool? Were the perverts of Bokhara more degenerate than those of Naples? Were the murderers of Canton more blood-thirsty than those of Paris? Were the saber-rattlers of Constantinople more arrogant than those of Berlin?"

"Again my answer was—still is—'No!'"

"Women" Vs. "Ladies."

The nuances of the English language seem to be as well understood by the person who advertised for "An aged woman to care for an elderly lady," as by the southern darkey who, presenting himself at the door of a fine mansion, announced: "It's lookin' fo' de cullud lady what works fo' de white woman at dis house."—Springfield Union.

Motor Truck Is Big Farming Aid

Enables Farmer to Take Advantage of Better Markets at Longer Distances.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The motor truck on the farm has many features to commend its use, but just how much weight must be given to its various advantages or disadvantages is a question that may best be answered by the combined opinions of experienced motor-truck owners. The prospective purchaser and men inexperienced in the use of these machines may derive much information of value from a study of the experiences of other truck owners. Accordingly, the United States Department of Agriculture has compiled Department Bulletin 1254 in which the experience of several hundred truck users in the New England and Central Atlantic states is summarized.

Analysis of Data.

Among the outstanding facts indicated by compilation and analysis of the data collected are the following:

The use of the motor truck in many instances enables a farmer to take advantage of better markets at greater distances from his farm than were available when his hauling was done with horses. For those truck owners who have changed markets the distance to the new markets averages nearly double the distance to those formerly used.

In the area covered by these reports trucks having a capacity of one ton comprised nearly half the total number concerning which replies were received, while slightly over half of the owners who in 1922 gave their opinions as to the size best suited to their conditions stated they preferred the one-ton machines.

Over 90 per cent of the owners stated they believed their trucks would prove to be profitable investments, and that they intended to purchase others when the ones reported on were worn out.

Saving Time Is Advantage.

Saving of time was given as the greatest advantage, and poor roads as the greatest disadvantage connected with the use of motor trucks.

On the average it requires less than half the time to make a haul of a given length with a truck than it does with horses.

Not all of the road hauling was done with trucks. Over 60 per cent of the owners answering this question stated that they used horses for a small part of their road hauling. While many owners used their machines for some hauling about the farm a large part of such hauling was still done with horses.

A small percentage of the owners stated they did some custom work, but that it constituted on the average only about one-tenth of the total hauling done with the machines.

A majority of the owners estimated that their trucks were used on an average of 147 days, and traveled slightly over 3,100 miles in the year preceding the report.

Expense of Operation.

The expense of operation per mile run varied from 7.8 cents for the half-ton machines to 20.7 cents for the two-ton size. The total cost (including driver) per ton-mile for hauling crops ranged from 37.3 cents for the smaller trucks to 15.8 cents for the larger size.

Over two-thirds of the owners reporting stated their machines had always been ready for use when needed during the preceding year.

The addition of motor trucks to the farm equipment had displaced on the average less than one horse for each machine purchased.

All of these various questions are discussed in more detail in the bulletin, a copy of which may be secured as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Lime Applied to Supply Calcium for Plant Food

One purpose in applying lime to land for alfalfa or clover is to supply calcium to be used as food, and in a form which may be readily used. In applying lime, enough should be applied to supply the alfalfa with as much calcium as may be needed. As alfalfa needs about as much calcium as there is in about 75 pounds of hydrated lime for each ton of hay it grows, you can calculate about how much lime should be added to meet the alfalfa requirements for the period you expect the alfalfa to grow. If you expect the alfalfa to stand for five years and it makes four to five tons of hay each year, you will need to apply considerable hydrated lime per acre. Unless you can secure hydrated lime very cheap, you will find it better to use common ground limestone and apply from four to five tons per acre if the subsoil is sour as well as the surface soil.

Insects Hibernate Over Winter in Crop Refuse

After a crop is harvested there is usually some portion of the plant which is allowed to remain on the land. In this refuse the insects peculiar to the crop often feed and multiply until killing frost, and then hibernate over winter, inflicting injury to similar crops on the same land the next year. For this reason, all the remnants of a crop such as stubble, vines, leaves, etc., should be removed from the field as soon after it is harvested as possible.

KEEPING WELL

DANGER FROM AUTO-MOBILE EXHAUST
DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

IN a recent copy of The Journal of the American Medical Association, a doctor tells what happened one morning in his own garage.

He was about to start out on his morning calls and had gone into the garage and started his engine. Seeing his next door neighbor in his back yard, he went out to speak to him. Coming back in a few minutes, he was surprised to find his young daughter lying on the floor of the garage, unconscious. Thinking that she had fallen and struck her head, he started to carry her into the house. Then he saw two other children, his own son and his neighbor's, lying under the car. Realizing that they had been overcome by gas from the car, he stopped the engine and carried the three children out into the fresh air. With prompt treatment by artificial respiration, they all recovered consciousness in a short time. Had the doctor's chat with his neighbor been much longer, he would probably have found all three children dead.

Cases of death from carbon monoxide poisoning are so common that the United States public health service has recently issued a bulletin of warning on the subject. Numerous news items tell of men found dead on the floor of their garages, with the doors closed and the engine running. With the coming on of winter, such reports will probably be more frequent.

Automobile owners and chauffeurs should understand the danger of running a gasoline engine in a small, closed place of any kind for any length of time. Gasoline fed into the cylinder burns, but it is not entirely consumed. It gives off a gas through the exhaust which is carbon monoxide, a deadly poison. Careful tests show that even a small 23-horsepower automobile engine will give off one and one-half cubic feet of carbon monoxide gas every minute, enough to be dangerous in about three minutes.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless and almost odorless gas. Even in a closed garage, its presence is not noticeable enough to be a warning of danger. The victim gradually loses consciousness and, even if aware of his danger, is often unable to escape on account of paralysis of his muscles. Before help can come, his lungs are so saturated with the gas that death quickly ensues.

See that the doors and windows of your garage are open before starting your car. Don't start your engine or keep it running in a small closed space. If you have any signs of faintness, get into the open air at once. Your life depends upon your promptness.

Has Used Over 200 Bottles in Nine Years.

Grove City, September 6, 1924.

Mr. F. L. Fickardt
Circleville, Ohio.

Dear Mr. Fickardt:—

Perhaps you do not remember the incident but about nine years ago I tried out Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops to satisfy in my own mind the truth of the statements I had heard.

I took two equal number of birds in exactly the same condition and tried out your Drops as against another Nationally advertised poultry remedy. I used both as the directions stated until I thoroughly satisfied myself that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops were superior for the use that it is intended. Since I convinced myself that Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops were the best, I have used it exclusively on all my poultry and in all that time I have never had an epidemic of any kind. I firmly believe this is due to keeping your remedy before them all the time.

I know that I have returned more than two hundred empty bottles, but how many more I bought I can't tell. Altho you do not make any claim for your remedy as an egg producer I can because I get more eggs now that I did before I used Fickardt's Roup and Cholera Drops. This is probably due to the fact that my chickens are always in first class condition.

My eggs and butter pay our household expenses. I would not undertake to raise poultry without Fickardt's medicine.

Sincerely,

Mrs. John R. Shelton

Storms on Indian Ocean

The Indian ocean is noted for the violent hurricanes which sweep over it with surprising suddenness and great force. They do immense damage to shipping and to seaports all along the southern coast of Asia.

Quaint Theory

Thomas Burnet, an Englishman, in 1681 wrote a book, "Sacred Theory of the Earth," to prove that the earth was originally like an egg and that at the deluge the shell burst and the waters escaped.

Gentleness Wins

Gentleness is far more successful in all its enterprises than violence; indeed, violence generally frustrates its own purpose, while gentleness scarcely ever fails.—Locke.

Proportionate Values

If gold were as plentiful as tin and tin were as rare as gold we'd be buying sardines in gold boxes and paying for them with tin, says the New York Telegraph.

Another Victim

A Lebanon man who early in July went out to scoff at "the cow pasture shinny" being played at the Country club, now talks about "slices" and "birdies" in his sleep.—Exchange.

Needed Help.

Rather pretty young woman and small son on Clifton car. Gentleman sits opposite; stranger to lady and boy, but a lover of children. Cultivates acquaintance of youngster by means of smiles and winks. Boy receptive, but has not yet acquired the art of winking with one eye—can only squint with both eyes at once. Thinks nice stranger deserves better recognition; peremptorily and loudly calls on his mother for assistance. Thus: "Mamma, wink at that man, I can't."—Cleveland Plaindealer.

First.

Fruits have the honor of being most widely diffused geographically, grown with the kindest care, and of being first used by man as food. They still enter largely into the regimen of the cultivated nations, and are the fairest of civilizers. The use of them is of such universal importance that we can not subsist in any plenty or elegance without them. And everywhere beside the cultivated man grows the orchard, to intimate his refinement in those excellences most befitting his race.—A. Bronson Alcott.

Don't Wait to Do Good Deeds.

The good deeds we would do are brightened and made more prolific of beneficial results if we carry them out while the enthusiasm of our generous impulse is upon us. Have we not all experienced the warm desire to succor; postponed to a more convenient time (for us)—then dreaded for days until we finally drag ourselves to an accomplishment that makes of kindness a pitiful treadmill and bestows no sweet graciousness upon the recipient, who innately feels the irksomeness of our beneficence?

BURGLARS

Attempts Made to Blow Up Safes of Lumber and Railroad Companies.

The offices of the Circleville Lumber company and of the Pennsylvania Railroad company at the Union station were entered by safe blowers Sunday morning but they did not succeed in getting into the safes. At both places the knobs on the combination and the handles on the safe doors were knocked off preparatory to being blown by nitro glycerine, but something happened, the connection was not made and the eggs departed without taking a thing.

At the office of the Wood Specialty company, it was discovered that the burglars had used this place to warm up and rest. Cigaret stubs were found on the floor of the office, a big gas fire was burning in the radiator stove and they also helped themselves to a pair of pliers which were carried away. There are no clues to the midnight marauders.

Gold in the Philippines

It is said that there is no stream rising in the mountains of Luzon and the same is true of other islands of the Philippine group which has not its gold-bearing sands. The alluvial deposits of precious metal have been gathered for many years, but no thorough exploitation for gold at its sources in the mountains has been made because the Spaniards were unable to conquer the tribes inhabiting the interior regions, and American enterprise has not yet been enlisted in this matter. Some of these tribes are said to look upon the digging up of the earth as a sacrilege, and they will not seek gold in that way lest the wrath of the gods should grow hot against them.—New York Herald.

SAWING WOOD.

Hocking county farmers have found a new use for their automobiles. They run the sausage grinder with them or saw their winter wood. Paul Shaw, of near Enterprise, has attached a gas pipe to the exhaust pipe of his auto and operates his sausage grinder that way.

Other farmers in the vicinity have contrived arrangements of pulleys and belts to run saws, thereby saving a lot of labor in getting their winter wood ready.
